

Cookie Consent

We use cookies and other tracking technologies, some of which are placed by third parties. We do this to enable essential site functionality and, with your consent, also for the purposes of functionality, experience and measurement. Refusal of consent may render some functions unavailable.

We use cookies that may result in the transfer of your personal data (such as your IP address or browsing behavior) to countries outside the EU/EEA. In particular, data may be transferred to Singapore, Malaysia, Russia, Kazakhstan, Serbia and the United States, where local laws may not provide the same level of protection for your personal data as in the EU. Such countries do not provide adequate protection and no adequate safeguards aimed at providing protection for the data are being implemented Your data may also be subject to access by local authorities without adequate data protection standards. You can read more information regarding the details of such data transfers in our Privacy Policy in “Tracking Technologies and Cookies” and “Analytics” sections. By clicking ‘Accept All’ or by manually selecting specified cookies, you explicitly consent to such transfers and the associated risks as per Art.49 para.1 lit.a) GDPR. In this case, your consent shall be the lawful ground for such transfer.

You can freely give, refuse or withdraw your consent at any time. You can read more about our cookie usage and our usage of your personal data in our Privacy policy.